

Evan Jenkins

Southern California

evanjenkinsdev.com | linkedin.com/in/evanw

SUMMARY

Frontend Engineer with 14 years of experience in crafting scalable and responsive user interfaces. Leading a team of developers to build an Angular application for a Fortune 100 technology company, enhancing the user experience for enterprise cloud and AI-driven applications. Utilizing Next.js for a public-sector digital service that streamlines access to essential food assistance programs. Developing Angular frontend solutions for a major public university, improving user experience for students, faculty, and staff.

SKILLS

Angular, Redux, NgRx, Next.js, React, Typescript, TailwindCSS, Jasmine, HTML, Sass, Cypress, Unit Testing, Drupal, JSON:API, GraphQL

EXPERIENCE

Senior Frontend Engineer, ActiveLAMP; Remote — 2010 Present

Accomplished Frontend Engineer at ActiveLAMP, with 14 years of experience dedicated to crafting large-scale enterprise applications. Proficient in designing and implementing an efficient frontend architecture, with emphasis on performance, code maintainability, and user experience.

- Providing technical direction in an Angular application with a team of 10-15 developers for a Fortune 100 technology company. Helping to make application design decisions and push forward with new features. Using NgRx provide state and maintain reactive components.
- Laying the groundwork for a Next.js application for a public-sector service. Providing feedback and code-reviews to keep the application maintainable and scalable. Utilizing Drupal as the backend JSON:API.
- Developing UI components in Angular for a major public university single sign on system that follows the brand guidelines and maintains accessibility for students, faculty, and staff.
- Building a responsive and scalable CRM interface for the largest RV retailer in the region, tapping the power of Angular and micro-frontends to deliver a high-performing application. Utilizing Jasmine, Cypress, and Cucumber for testing the application in continuous integration.

EDUCATION

Art Institute Inland Empire — Bachelor's in Graphic Design 2009